The Marquis of Salisbury Has Liberal Friendship and Will Take His Office.

The Members of His Cabinet Officially Announced---Other Gossip from Abroad.

Salisbury Accepts.

By Telegraph to The Sentinel.

LONDON, June 23.—The Marquis of Salisbury will announce to-night that he intends to form a cabinet, Gladstone and Granville having given his government assurance of friendship. Gladstone will explain his communication with Salisbury to-morrow.

LONDON, June 22.—The endeavors of her majesty to bring about an understanding between the liberal and conservative leaders, that the former may continue in office or the latter take office and carry on the government, are increasing. Mr. Winn, the conservative whips in the house of commons, has gone to confer with Sir Stafford Northcote. The persons in conference to-day with the Marquis of Salisbury were, the Duke of Richmond, Earl of Cranbrook, and Lord John Manners.

The difficulty concerning the formation of a new ministry have been settled and the Marquis of Salisbury assumes the office of premier at once.

As a result of the queen's efforts, the Marquis of Salisbury has resolved to accept Mr. Gladstone's promise to use his influence with the liberals to prevent faction opposition. It is expected that Lord Salisbury will announce the formation of a cabinet to-morrow. Writs will then be issued for the re-election of the cabinet members.

William Sanders Wright Vaux, the English archæologist, is dead in his 67th year.

THE CABINET.

Wm. Henry Smith; secretary of state for India, Lord Randolph Churchill; first lord of admiralty, Lord George Hamilton; president of the local government board, Arthur James Balfour; president of the board of trade, the Duke of Richmond and Gordon; vice-president of the council, Hon. W. R. Smith, long superintendent of the Botanical gardens, is supposed to be dying from inflamation of the bowels.

In an interview to-day with an associated press reporter, Representative Morrison, of Illinois, said that he purposed to introduce another tariff bill at the first session of next congress.

Official confirmation of the report from Vienna that the Austrian government will not receive Mr. Kieley as a representative of the United States government cannot be obtained here. The secretary of state and the Austrian legation refuse to talk upon the subject. There are indications, however, that point to a substantial correctness of the report.

The Critic announces that the blood-stained flag of the Fifty-third Illinois infantry, to which general attention was recently called, has been sent to the governor of Illinois. Upon examination of the facts in the case the war department came to the conclusion that the regiment acted very bravely and were entitled to the colors.

News was received at the war department late this afternoon to the effect that the difficulty with the Cheyenne Indians is becoming very serious. General Augur has ordered four companies of the Fifth cavalry to go to the scene of the disturbance in addition to the companies previously sent to Reno.

GAY SCENES.

Magnificent Procession of the Grand Army of the Republic at Portland To-Day.

Twenty-five Thousand Veterans in Line Under Their Famous Commanders.

The Great G. A. R. Parade.

By Telegraph to The Sentinel.

PORTLAND, June 23.—The second day of the national encampment of the G. A. R., is as beautiful as could be wished for the great procession. The streets through which the parade was to pass were crowded with people and gay with bunting. At 11 o'clock the signal gun for starting the procession was fired and the great line moved forward without confusion.

It took more than three hours for the parade to pass a certain point. The most careful estimates place the figures at 25,000, of which 20,000 wore the uniform of the Grand Army of the Republic.

NEWPORT, Vt., June 22.—Two thousand comrades of the Grand Army of the Republic have read the dispatches regarding the appointment of special police to care for the lives and property of the people of Portland. We call your attention to the fact that in times past we were the police of the nation, and twenty years has not diminished our respect for law and order. We come unarmed and on a peaceful mission, as your guests and respectfully ask permission to enter your city unmolested by special investigating committees.

(Signed) Department of Ohio, Tennessee, Georgia, Illinois, Wisconsin, Kansas, Iowa, Colorado, Minnesota, Oregon, Dakota, Missouri, Nebraska, Michigan.

The peculiar wording of the circulars sent out by the advocates of temperance seems to have had the effect of creating no small degree of resentment on the part of the visitors from other states; and many of them claim that to issue such circulars to a body of men so old in years in service and in distinguished honors, as that of the G. A. R., is scarcely less than an insult. The grand reception to the commander-in-chief occurs to-morrow evening.

The welcome to commander Kountz will be delivered by General J. A. Hall department commander of Maine, followed by an address of welcome by Governor Robie, on behalf of the state and a similar address by Mayor Deering on behalf of the city of Portland. Commander Kountz will respond for the G. A. R., and there will be brief addresses by General Logan, Hon. Hannibal Hamlin, Governor A'ger and other distinguished guests.

General Logan and a delegation of the grand army from Washington arrived from Boston this evening. Much enthusiasm was created by the reception tendered General Logan on the dock.

Governor Gray was honored by a serenade from the Mexican band at Indianapolis last night, at the Bates house. Two or three airs were played, which were greatly enjoyed by his excellency, who responded in a few brief remarks, complimenting the organization on the artistic merit of its performance, and welcoming its members to the state. The musicians came to this state from the New Orleans exposition.

The Wabash Strike.

Fifty men went to work this morning and turned out an engine entirely repaired. A few Knights of Labor are at work and others would join them but are held back by Springfield and Moberly men. The company can get along comfortably well with their present force.

George Smeath, a fellow of the Institute of Chartered Accountants, of London, is examining the books of the Wabash company at St. Louis. Mr. Ball, a British bond holder, is in New York to appoint a committee of engineers to inspect the Wabash system.

The Locust Forests.

The seventeen-year locusts inhabit oak and hickory ridges in preference to other woodland and it is worth one's while to take a drive into the country for no other purpose than to hear their humming and drumming. Locusts come only once in seventeen years and are worth looking after. They are a big nuisance to be sure, but they afford food for lively reflection, especially for those people who are afraid of them, and believe that a sting of a locust is certain death. The most interesting feature of their appearance is the superstition still prevalent in portions of the country that it foretells some great calamity. One would have thought this silly fancy as dead as the dread witches, who used, in the pioneer days, to make cows "give bloody milk," kept butter from "coming" and gave hogs the "blind staggers."

General Grant.

By Telegraph to The Sentinel.

MT. MCGREGOR, N. Y., June 23.—Dr. Douglas was this morning asked to make a comparison of the general's condition now and on the day he started from New York. "General Grant could not have lived in New York until this time with the weather such as when he left," said the doctor.

"He was sinking very rapidly there and that was why we had to hasten the time of leaving, which was originally fixed for to-day. In making a comparison of the general's condition a week ago and now, there is a central fact that pains me deeply and all times, and that is, that we must stand by and watch the course of this illness with a consciousness of being unable to stay it. Starting from that fact the incidents of daily changes may be noted.

"You ask me if General Grant coughs as much now as then? I cannot tell that definitely. Sometimes in taking food he coughs and it might be thought it was from other causes."

"Is he stronger? To that I would say that he might this morning walk back and forth on the piazza with less fatigue than would have resulted one week ago."

Last night at midnight the mercury was down to 48 degrees and 44 degrees at 6 this morning. Between 5 and 6 the doctor treated the general's throat, after which he said in quite a clear voice: "I have had a good night. I slept well and feel rested now."

He gained some sleep between that time and 9 o'clock, when his throat was again attended to and food was given. The general again dozed off.

Mr. Ball, of Glasgow, one of the English bondholders of the committee has arrived in New York with authority to appoint a committee of civil engineers to make a thorough and critical examination of the physical condition of the entire property of the Wabash company, which will be speedily commenced. THE Northern Indiana Editorial association last week passed a resolution endorsing Hon. J. B. Stoll for the position of public printer. Mr. Stoll possesses a thorough knowledge of the printing business and he is eminently qualified for the position to which he aspires.

FRANK BUCKLAND'S biographer records that when the great naturalist lay dying, "God is so good," he said, "so very good to the little fishes, I do not believe He would let their inspector suffer shipwreck at last. I am going a long journey, where I think I shall see a great many curious animals. This journey I must go alone."

AS WAS predicted, only sooner than could have been dreamed, Gladstone's defeat has crowned him with glory. England is quite wild to-day over the great commoner, and Sir William Vernon Harcourt but echoes the voice of the nation in vowing that an enfranchised nation will yet crown him with a victory worthy of his character and dear bought fame.

THE PRESIDENT has at last disposed of the Italian mission, and this time in a very satisfactory way. We never know what crimes a man may have committed till he has been appointed to office, but it is hard to imagine that there can be any hidden blots upon the record of one who has been so long conspicuous in public and professional life as has Judge Stallo, of Cincinnati.

ACCORDING to the New York Herald's Washington correspondent the attaches of the White House are able, from long experience, to form a "very good impression" of the character and standing of callers from their cards. If these accomplished employes should lose their situations at any time, they should have no trouble in finding lucrative engagements as fortune tellers. Indeed, they might add to their perquisites now by foretelling the fate of anxious office-seekers, since, if they can size up strange visitors so accurately, the mind and secret intentions of the President must be an open page to them.

CONSIDERABLE excitement exists in Lafayette on the subject of bank taxation. The presidents of the several national banks stoutly refuse to pay the tax on their capital stock. A test case is made in the matter of John W. Heath, president of the Lafayette national. He had sworn that he owned $170,000 of bank stock, but refused to pay the tax thereon. The county attorney was interviewed, and said that if Mr. Heath refused to pay his taxes his property would be levied on and sold as in case of any other delinquent.

THE diversions of the old Kaiser William have always been manly and in striking contrast to those of his Bavarian neighbor, which are taken in solitude and in as much gloom as is compatible with their enjoyment. Perhaps there are few older figures in history than that of the strange monarch, who may—or strictly speaking, may not—be seen occasionally in the Munich Opera-house, having one of Wagner's lyric dramas all to himself. This potentate is the "Jack Horner" of royalty, who takes his Christmas pie into the corner and eats it by himself.

THE firm hold which the cholera evidently has in Spain and the manner in which it is extending upon the Mediterranean indicate the possibility of a general prevalence of the disease in southwestern Europe during the summer. In this country quarantine has been established at the various ports, but quarantine is not the only precautionary measure to be taken. In spite of all such precautions contagious diseases have found their way into our seaport cities and towns and it is reasonable to presume that they will do so again. Every city should be made a barrier to the plague. The most rigid rules of cleanliness and sanitary precaution should be laid down and every violation of these punished with rigor. Individual convenience in so grave a matter must be abandoned for the general good and it will, no doubt, in the majority of cases. It is the minority that needs most watching.

THE New York Times says that Gen. Sheridan's little accident while out driving lately recalls another narrow escape he had during the later days of the war, when suddenly tripped up one day he stumbled and fell beneath a stallion's feet in camp and was fiercely kicked, narrowly escaping death. The horses hoofs scraped his coat and ripped the cloth. It was by a decidedly informal rolling over the ground in a hurry that he saved his life, so the soldiers say, for the kick was viciously repeated. There wasn't anything very heroic in the General's retreat, but that other experience with horseflesh which Buchanan Read has sung to such purpose was scarcely of more consequence to Philip himself.

Biliousness

Is very prevalent at this season, the symptoms being bitter taste, offensive breath, coated tongue, sick headache, drowsiness, dizziness, loss of appetite. If this condition is allowed to continue, serious consequences may follow. By promptly taking Hood's Sarsaparilla a fever may be avoided or premature death prevented. It is a positive cure for biliousness. Sold by all druggists.

Mr. Tilden's steam yacht Viking is being improved to increase her powers of speed.

Ex-Mayor George Sanderson, of Lancaster, Pa., writes: "Mishler's Herb Bitters is extensively known and used, and so successful are its curative powers that it has become as familiar as a household word and a necessary addition to the medical requirements of every family. Having used the bitters myself and being acquainted with others who used it with beneficial effects, I can only add that in my opinion it is the best remedy ever introduced." And from all over the country come strong words of commendation from those who have found relief and cure.

The man who monkeys around machinery often travels incog.

The use of Iodoform or mercurials in the treatment of catarrh—whether in the form of suppositories or ointments—should be avoided, as they are both injurious and dangerous. Iodoform is easily detected by its offensive odor. The only reliable catarrh remedy on the market to-day is Ely's Cream Balm, being free from all poisonous drugs. It has cured thousands of chronic and acute cases, where all other remedies have failed. A particle is applied into each nostril; no pain; agreeable to use. Price fifty cents; of druggists.

It is the man who has the most property that has the greatest will power.

Recently in Brooklyn, at one of the large public schools, one of the scholars met with a serious accident. An eminent physician and surgeon was called in. He asked immediately what had been done. "I have bound up the wound and saturated it with Pond's Extract," said the principal, an excellent and intelligent lady. "Very well," said the doctor, "The boy is doing nicely. I could have prescribed nothing better." Pond's Extract, for over two generations, has been the great specific for wounds, burns, sprains, bruises, and all kinds of inflammations and hemorrhages. Genuine in bottles only.

Father, Mother, and Three Sisters Dead.

Mr. David Claypool, formerly Sergeant-at-Arms of the New Jersey Senate, and now Notary Public at Cedarville, Cumberland Co., N. J., makes the following startling statement: "My father, mother, and three sisters all died with consumption, and my lungs were so weak I raised blood. Nobody thought I could live. My work (shipsmithing) was very straining on me with my weak constitution, and I was rapidly going to the grave. While in this condition I commenced using Mishler's Herb Bitters, and it saved my life. Because it was so difficult to get it in this little place, and I had improved so much, I stopped taking it for a time, and the result is that I have commenced going rapidly down hill again. Somehow, Mishler's Herb Bitters gives appetite and strengthens and builds me up as nothing else does, and I must have a dozen bottles at once. Use this communication as you please, and if any one wants to be convinced of its truth, let them write me and I will make affidavit to it, for I owe my life to Mishler's Herb Bitters."

The secret of the almost invariable relief and cure of consumption, dysentery, diarrhœa, dyspepsia, indigestion, kidney and liver complaints, when Mishler's Herb Bitters is used, is that it contains simple, harmless, and yet powerful ingredients, that act on the blood, kidneys, and liver, and through them strengthens and invigorates the whole system. Purely vegetable in its composition; prepared by a regular physician; a standard medicinal preparation; endorsed by physicians and druggists. These are four strong points in favor of Mishler's Herb Bitters. Mishler's Herb Bitters is sold by all druggists. Price $1.00 per large bottle. 6 bottles for $5.00.

Ask your druggist for MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS. If he does not keep it, do not take anything else, but send a postal card to MISHLER HERB BITTERS CO., 518 Commerce Street, Philadelphia.

CANCER OF TONGUE!
A Case Resembling that of Gen. Grant.

Some ten years ago I had a scrofulous sore on my right hand which gave me great trouble, and under the old time treatment was healed up, and I supposed I was well. I found, however, it had only been driven into the system by the use of potash and mercury and in March, 1885, it broke out in my throat, and concentrated in what some of the doctors denominated cancer. I was placed under treatment for this disease. Some six or seven of the best physicians of the country had me at different times under their charge, among them three specialists in this line; but one after another would exhaust their skill and drop me, for I grew worse continually. The cancer had eaten through my cheek, destroying the roof of my mouth and upper lip, then attacked my tongue, palate and lower lip, destroying the palate and under lip entirely and half my tongue, eating out to the top of my left cheek bone and up to the left eye. From a hearty, robust woman of 150 pounds, I was reduced to a mere frame of skin and bones, almost unable to turn myself in bed. I could not eat any solid food, but subsisted on liquids and my tongue was so far gone I could not talk. The anguish of mind and the horrible sufferings of body which I experienced never can be revealed. Given up by physicians to die, with no hope, and by request on the part of friends who sat around my bedside expecting every moment to be my last: in fact, my husband would place his hand on me every now and then to see whether I was alive or not, and at one time all decided that life was extinct, and my death was reported all over the country.

Such was my wretched and helpless condition the first of last October (1884), when my friends commenced giving me Swift's Specific. In less than a month, the eating places stopped and healing commenced, and the fearful aperture in my cheek has been closed and firmly knitted together. A progress of a new under lip is progressing finely, and the tongue which was almost destroyed is being recovered, and it seems that nature is supplying a new tongue. I can talk so that my friends can readily understand me, and can eat solid food again. I am able to walk about wherever I please without the assistance of anyone and have gained fifty pounds of flesh. All this under the blessing of a mercifully Heavenly Father, is due to Swift's Specific. I am a wonder and a marvel to all my friends, hundreds of whom have known my intense sufferings, and have visited me in my afflictions. While I am not entirely well, yet my gratitude is never the less devout, and I am confident that a perfect recovery is now in sight. If any doubt these facts, I would refer them to Hon. John H. Traylor, state senator of this district, who is my neighbor, Dr. T. S. Bradfield, of LaGrange, Ga., or to any other persons living in the southern part of Troupe county, Ga.

A MEETING-HOUSE IN THE TENNESSEE MOUNTAINS.

The little log meeting-house at the Notch stood high on a rugged spur of the Great Smoky. Dense forests encompassed it on every hand, obscuring that familiar picture of mountain and cloud and cove. From its rude, glassless windows one could look out on the distant vista, save, perhaps, in the visionary glories of heaven or the climatic discomforts of hell, according to the state of the conscience, or perchance the liver. The sky was aloof and limited. The laurel tangled the aisles of the woods. Sometimes, from the hard benches, a weary tow-headed brat might rejoice to mark in the monotony the frisking of a squirrel on a bough hard by, or a woodpecker solemnly tapping. The acorns would rattle on the roof, if the wind stirred, as if in punctuation of the discourse. The pines, mustering strong among the oaks, joined their mystic threnody to the sad-voiced quiring within. The firs stretched down long, pendulous, darkling boughs, and filled the air with their balsamic fragrance. Within the house the dull light fell over a few rude benches and a platform with a chair and table, which was used as a pulpit. Shadows of many deep, rich tones of brown lurked among the rafters. Here and there a cobweb, woven to the consistence of a fabric, swung in the air. The drone of a blue-bottle, fluttering in and out of the window in a slant of sunshine, might invade the reverent silence, as Brother Jake Tobin turned the leaves to read the chapter. Sometimes there would sound, too, a commotion among the horses without, unharnessed from the wagons and hitched to the trees; then in more than one of the solemn faces might be described an anxious perturbation—not fear because of equine perversities, but because of the idiosyncracies of callow human nature in the urchins left in charge of the teams. No one ventured to investigate, however, and with that worldly discomfort contending with the spiritual exaltations they sought to foster, the rows of religionists swayed backwards and forwards in rhythm to the reader's voice, rising and falling in long, billowy sweeps of sound, like the ground swell of ocean waves.

It was strange, looking upon their faces, and with a knowledge of the limited phases of their existence, their similarity of experience here, where a hundred years might come and go, working no change save that, like the leaves, they fluttered awhile in the outer air with the spurious animation called life, and fell in death, and made way for new bourgeonings like unto themselves—strange to mark how they differed. Here was a man of a stern, darkly religious conviction, who might either have writhed at the stake, or stooped to kindle the flames; and here was an accountant soul that knew only those keen mercantile motives—the hope of reward and the fear of hell; and here was an enthusiast's eye, touched by the love of God; and here was an unfinished, hardly humanized face, that it seemed as presumptuous to claim as the exponent of a soul as the faces of the stupid oxen out-of-doors. All were earnest; many wore an expression of excited interest, as the details of the chapter waxed to a climax, like the tense stillness of a metropolitan audience before an unimagined coup de theater. The men all sat on one side, chewing their quids; the women on the other, almost masked by their limp sun-bonnets. The ubiquitous baby—several of them—was there, and more than once babbled aloud and cried out peevishly. Only one, becoming uproarious, was made a public example; being quietly borne out and deposited in the ox wagon, at the mercy of the urchins who preside over the team, while his mother creaked in again on the tips of deprecating, anxious toes, to hear the Word.—Charles Egbert Craddock in the Atlatic.

Fort Wayne Paint and Color Works.

No. 12 West Columbia Street Fort Wayne, Indiana.

To Painters

And others wanting First-class Paints: Do you know that you have in Fort Wayne a Manufacturer of Mixed Paint and Grinder of Colors, where you can buy your Paints from first hand instead of paying the middle man his profits, which are from 25 to 33½ per cent. O. L. STARKEY, the Painter and proprietor of the Fort Wayne Paint and Color Works, came to Fort Wayne in April, 1856, and is identified as one of the old citizens who has helped build up Fort Wayne, and his knowledge of Paints and the composition of pigments to form different shades and tints is well-known to the public, and his long practical experience in painting gives him the knowledge of Paints that a mere dealer cannot have for he does not know anything about Paints, as he buys them sealed up and he cannot tell you what it takes to make this or that shade. All he knows is what the label on the can says. Neither can he tell you shades that will or will not fade. By buying your Paints of O. L. STARKEY you can get all the information you want. I am making Liquid Paints in all shades and colors; also the same shades and colors in paste form, the same thickness as white lead and requires thinning down the same as white lead. In making the different shades my formulas are all registered giving the amount of each color it takes to form certain shades all thoroughly mixed together in the powder mills, then wet down and run through a mixing machine, and from there to the mills where it is all ground together making a pigment that cannot be made by hand. Call or send and get some of my sample cards of colors and tints; also see elevations of gothic houses colored up with four and five shades, which will give you a good idea how to paint and ornament the outside of your houses.

I say again, do not buy of the middle man if you want to save money. I will guarantee my prices and quality of goods with any manufacturer in the United States.

The Wabash and Its Detroit Line.

The Wabash Railroad company has resumed negotiations with the management of the Cincinnati, Wabash and Michigan road for the use of the track of the latter line between North Manchester and Wabash. The officials of Indianapolis, Peru and Chicago road are disinclined to rent the tracks of that line from Peru to Denver to the Wabash and the latter is compelled to seek another outlet for its Detroit and Indianapolis business. K. H. Wade, of the Wabash line, will render his decision to-day or to-morrow, and as tickets via the new route have been received by the Wabash agent at Wabash, it is presumed that Detroit trains will after next week be sent over the Cincinnati, Wabash and Michigan.

ALL O. K.

Seiberling & Co., the Empire Harvester and Binder, as Sound as a Dollar.

Last evening the News had an item giving currency to the rumor that Seiberling & Co., of Akron, O., had failed. This firm manufactures the celebrated Empire Harvester and Binder, which has a world wide reputation as has also the house itself, not to mention its unlimited resources and great wealth. Wm. Keough and Wm. Gause, who represent the company here, asked W. D. Page to verify the strange statement. He telegraphed to Akron this morning and received the following replies:

AKRON, Ohio, June 23, '85.

W. D. PAGE, Editor of the News:

J. F. Seiberling & Co. are financially O. K., as far as we know.

AULTMAN, MILLER & CO.

AKRON, Ohio, June 23, '85.

W. D. PAGE, Editor of News:

Never so strong as now.

GEORGE F. PERKINS, Cashier of the Bank of Akron.

Aultman, Miller & Co., are competitors of Seiberling & Co., and Mr. Perkins is known to every banker in the city. A firm styled "The J. F. Seiberling Company" did business years ago in Akron and their affairs are now being settled up. They have no more to do with the manufacturer of the Empire Harvester and Binder than the moon, but rival machine men here have circulated the report to damage Messrs. Keough & Gause, who come out out on top with the greatest machines on earth, made by the strongest and best firm in America.

IN THE COURT.

Robert Dunn, One of the Kerr Murray Strikers—Two Indictments Quashed.

The cases of Tom Dailey, James Christie, Christ Cook and Robert Dunn were called before Judge O'Rourke this morning. The indictments against James Christie were quashed for want of evidence to sustain the charges that they prevented men from working at the Kerr Murray foundry. The case of Robert Dunn was taken up and a jury empanneled. J. B. Harper appears for Dunn and C. M. Dawson for the state.

The court room was crowded with Knights of Labor, who smiled when their friends were called on the jury. These suits attract much attention and the workmen watch them closely.

Nearly $5,000 will be realized from the Library hall fair.

The Fair at Simpson Church is growing in interest. Go and help them with your presence. 23-2t

KNOCKED OUT.

Poundmaster Woehnker Runs Against a Vicious Seventh Ward Crowd.

Fred Woehnker, the pound master, flushed with former conquests, sailed up into the Seventh ward this morning. On the Hamilton commons he encountered a drove of cows. The herders were ordered to drive the cattle outside the city limits, but instead of complying, the kids pelted the poundmaster with stones. They were reinforced by their mammas and a Mrs. Dalton, of the precinct, clubbed Mr. Woehnker, who was glad to get away alive as hastily as he could. Woehnker will file an affidavit against the woman, and she will file a counter affidavit against him. The poundmaster is discouraged, and exhibits a bruised hand and sore back where boulders fell from the hands of the women and their sons.

The voting on the Quilt and Wagon will close to-morrow (Wednesday) night at Simpson Fair. 23-2t

Prohibition Convention.

The Allen county prohibitionists are requested to meet at Temperance headquarters, on Harrison street, Fort Wayne, Thursday, June 25, at 1:30 p. m. There will also be a meeting of the executive officers of the Twelfth congressional district the same day and place, at 10:30 a. m.
